OCDE Project GLAD® Tier II Training of Trainers

OCDE Project GLAD® Tier II training is for individuals who seek to become certified trainers of the OCDE Project GLAD® model. Prior to attending a Tier II training, prerequisites include completion of Tier I training, submission of an application with administrative sponsorship and notification of approval. Following completion of Tier II training, participants will begin the rigorous journey of completing tasks and creating products outlined at the Tier II training, as they progress towards attaining certification as a Tier III agency trainer. More information and resources will be provided to support Tier II participants.

Part I: Research and Theory (3 days)
This advanced Research and Theory session strengthens an established understanding of how language is acquired and promoted in the classroom based upon contemporary research and the research which was used to develop the OCDE Project GLAD® model. Trainers in-training will observe the Research and Theory training through the lens of what they will be expected to do upon becoming a certified trainer.

Part II: Classroom Demonstration (5 days)
Trainers in-training will observe and participate in the delivery of a 4-day classroom demonstration. Trainers in-training will attend as a certification team of 2 or 3 and begin the process of creating an original unit of instruction. This is a critical opportunity for people to deepen their understanding of the connections between strategies and how students’ conceptual development and language acquisition increases with sequential and intentional planning.
