OCDE Project GLAD® is a model of professional development dedicated to building academic language and literacy for all students, especially English language learners. For over 20 years, OCDE Project GLAD® has provided exemplary training for educators both nationally and internationally resulting in students’ access to quality instruction and high-levels of success. The model enhances teachers’ design and delivery of standards-based instruction through sheltered instruction.

Part I: Research and Theory (2-days) [4-day Zoom Training]

The Research and Theory session develops a foundational understanding of how language is acquired and promoted in the classroom based upon the research which was used to develop the OCDE Project GLAD® model. Training outcomes include an overview of the structure of the model, the sequence and rationale for the strategies, and building cross-cultural competency.

Part II: Classroom Demonstration (4 days)

Teachers watch the strategies in action with students. Teachers will receive assistance through the process of embedding strategies into their core curriculum materials. Research and Theory training is required in order to attend a Classroom Demonstration.
